[A fee-based July 2, 2022 Webinar rebroadcast free on May 1, 2025]

Time travel technology came into the possession of different governments and organizations in the post-WW II era due to extraterrestrials conducting a ‘temporal war’ over Earth’s future timelines.

This all began when the German Vril Society achieved breakthroughs in torsion field physics and antigravity technology in the 1920s, which Nazi Germany took over in the 1930s and soon after, reached agreements with Draco Reptilian extraterrestrials to set up a breakaway German colony in Antarctica to safely develop space-time technologies.

The Antarctic-based German colony was later used as a proxy in a temporal war with other interstellar civilizations, which had become alarmed over changes in the Earth’s timelines because it made our planet the ‘future epicenter’ for galactic-wide tyranny to take hold.

Further, as a result of UFO crash retrieval operations in the US and the Soviet Union in the 1940s, scientists began studying how extraterrestrial spacecraft could also be used as space-time travel devices. In the 1950s, Vatican scientists developed the first ‘Chronovisor’ technology which was instrumental in unlocking timeline secrets. Next, multiple classified projects next launched to test how timelines could be impacted by human intervention.

Meanwhile, positive extraterrestrial groups, ancient Inner Earth civilizations, and human civilizations from our future began monitoring and intervening to protect the possible timelines that had significant galactic implications. Thus began a temporal war which continues today.

In this all new webinar, Dr. Michael Salla presents extensive clips witness/participant testimony and documents that cast light on the opaque world of time travel technology and its hybrid uses by different military intelligence entities, and shows why this information is critical for people's understanding of current events taking place today.

ANNOUNCER: What was once told as fiction is now confirmed as fact. In this two-part presentation, Dr. Michael Salla reveals the history, the science, the technology, and just who has been hacking and fracking with our existence and our reality.

DR. SALLA: Welcome everyone. Aloha. Howdy y'all. We are shooting live from the beautiful state of Tennessee and I welcome you all to this webinar on time travel, temporal warfare, and our future. I know many of you have done proceeding webinars, but some of you may not have done some of those that actually pertain to what we are doing today. I've talked previously about space arcs arriving in our solar system or being activated in our solar system. I've talked about portals being found, creating a network all over the planet, and we've talked about halls of records, also found throughout the planet.

Now these are some of the topics I've already covered and most of you have probably watched those webinars, but for those who haven't, what we're doing today kind of like develops flows on from that. It gives us more of an idea of exactly how all of these things are part of a much larger tapestry, because what we're witnessing right now is really unique. I mean this is something that people have been predicting for a long, long time. People have been saying that we are going to experience these end times, a time of great change on our planet, and there were predictions that it would happen in the 70s and the 80s and the 90s by 2012.

Another of that really panned out. But right now, what we're witnessing truly is unprecedented. And I think we are at this end of an age, and we are kind of in the middle of what I think really is a dark night of the soul. When you go out and read the media, whether it's the mainstream propaganda, or even the alternative media putting out a counter narrative, the end result is somewhat depressing. It kind of puts you in a place where you really need to take time out and go out into nature, spend time in forests or in the country or on the water and to find ways to rejuvenate yourself.

So, because at the moment, things don't seem to be moving really quickly. They seem to be at a point where things are kind of stuck. But if you cover the material, if you've listened to the earlier webinars, there's a lot happening behind the scenes. There's tremendous amount happening behind the scenes. But on the surface, it does seem to be very dark, very depressing, kind of like dark night of the soul stuff.

So, this is where hopefully what I'm going to be presenting to you today, when we look at time travel, is going to give you a bigger perspective. You're going to get an idea of exactly how different groups have been engaging with one another in this temporal war. And where we are right now in this temporal war, because we're coming to an end up of it. And each of us actually has a really important role to play in what is coming. And the very fact that you're here watching this, you're here because there's something very profound about the time travel topic. And when I go through all of the material, I think you'll get a sense not just of the technological side of time travel, how it's being used, how it's being developed, and the history of it. But you're also going to sense of how we as individuals actually can be very relevant to the whole time travel topic. It's not just something relevant to technology.

So that's something I'll get to. But I think we can get a lot of hope from that, because if we recognize where we as organic beings with consciousness and DNA, that we can be plugged into something where we actually can get some of this incredible information from the future, it's going to give us more confidence that what we are in the middle of right now is just almost like a rite of passage. Because I think that is what we're experiencing as a planetary culture. It's like a rite of passage. It's like if you want to graduate into the galactic community, you have to go through this graduation process where you learn to deal with these dark forces that somehow got control over your world, over our civilization, have manipulated us for a long, long time. And then we gradually awaken to that and we shake that off. And once that happens, then we're ready to join the galactic community because we've already experienced, I think, during the Atlantic period, we experienced where the dark, by the soul, ended badly, where the dark forces really were able to hold on. And those of us that wanted to bring in better world, we failed. But this time around, we're talking 11,000 years later, a different outcome is happening. So this is hopefully what you'll be able to kind of get a sense of and make it feel more competent about as we go through this webinar.

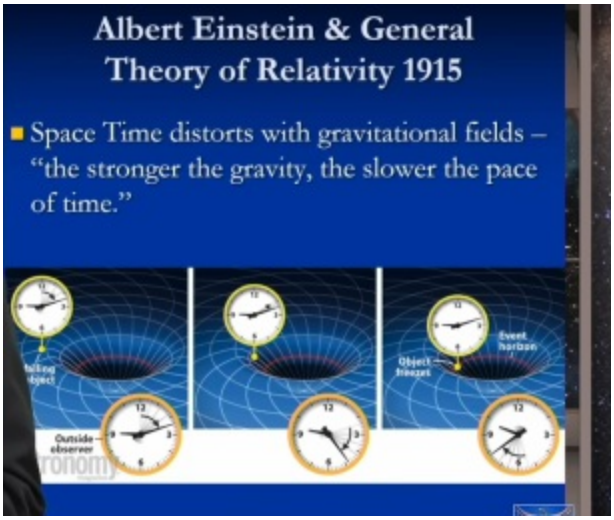
So let me begin and where do you begin studying and understanding the history of time travel? Well, the best place to begin is Nikola Tesla. Now, one of the things that is fascinating about Tesla was that, I mean, we all know about his phenomenal achievements in developing AC electricity, a radio wireless, but he was experimenting with his Tesla coils. This is one of his inventions that he discovered that in 1891. And by 1895, he was creating these enormous electrostatic charges and rotating magnetic fields and kind of like analyzing and studying what would happen with these. And one of the things that he found was that these warped space time.

So Tesla is a really good starting point for understanding the history of time travel, because he says that when he was in the midst of one of these experiments using his Tesla coils, generating these enormous electrostatic charges and rotating magnetic fields, that quote, I could see the past, present and future all at the same time.

So Tesla in 1895, using his Tesla coils, was able to see through the bale and see the past and the future. And that was the beginning. And as we will see later on, the Tesla coil actually is a very important part of modern time travel technology. But this is how it all began in 1895 when Tesla first observed the effect of one of his Tesla coils.

Now, we know in 10 years later, in 1905, Albert Einstein came up with his special theory of relativity. And for him, the speed of light is this absolute in the universe. And that as a particle approaches the speed of light, time slows down. Time dilation happens.

So there you can see, that illustration where the rocket leaves is traveling at a speed near the speed of light. That the time on the rocket ship, it shows that, just imagine that that measures that clock on the rocket and the clock above the Earth that they measure years.



So the clock on the rocket, if you're traveling near the speed of light and you travel very large distance, it showed that you're gone for like five minutes or five light years. Five years. But on Earth, 25 light years, well, 25 years have passed. So time dilates for those traveling near the speed of light, whereas those on Earth, time proceeds normally.

Now, this also means that as you pass the speed of light, that time can reverse. You actually have time reversing for faster than light travel.

So this is something that five years later, you had Albert Einstein and a famous German physicist by the name of Arnold Sommerfeld conducting a thought experiment using the idea of time and speed of light being the absolute pivotal point by which time can slow down or reverse itself.

So at the speed of light, if you can exceed the speed of light, then Einstein and Sommerfeld said, well, if you could find something that could go faster than light, a kind of tachyon, then you have a means to telegraph into the past.

So that was the thought experiment in 1910 and they called that the tachyonic anti-telephone. So the tachyon, that was something that was developed by Arnold Sommerfeld. And the actual term itself was named by another physicist, a Gerald Feinberg.

So tachyon's a class of particles that travel faster than the speed of light. Arnold Sommerfeld was the first to propose them. And they have a very strange property that when they lose energy, they actually gain speed, which is the opposite to sublight speeds. As you gain energy, you start to travel approach the speed of light. Well, tachyon's, as they gain energy, they actually slow down. And that the slowest possible speed for a tachyon is the speed of light.

So this is one of the properties of tachyon's.
So for Einstein and Sommerfeld back in 1910, this was a theoretical concept. It was a thought experiment. But nevertheless, they saw that this was something that was consistent with what was known about the behavior of, or this was consistent with relativistic physics, the special theory of relativity. And what this means to kind of summarize it is there's a nice acute limerick, Reginald Balor, Buller, came up with this time-travel limerick.

There was a young lady named Bright,
Whose speed was faster than light.
She went out one day in a relative way
And returned the previous night.

So that's a famous limerick. And that kind of encapsulates this tachyonic anti-telephone thought experiment, or how tachyons behave. That a tachyon, or something using tachyon particles to propel themselves, that you can actually arrive before your departure. Very important. And I will return to that later on, to that idea. But the point is, in terms of time travel, if you are developing technology for time travel, it would be very useful to know that you have this capability of actually arriving at your destination before your departure. And how can you do that? What would be the effect of that? We'll talk about that shortly.
Now, five years later, in 1915, Albert Einstein comes up with these general theory of relativity. And this one actually works with macroscopic events like stars and black holes, where space-time distorts gravitation, distorts with gravitational field.
So the larger the gravitational field, whether we're talking about a sun, we're talking about a pulsar or a black hole, that time again distorts. So a gravitational field can distort time in terms of slowing the pace of time. And there you have different clocks showing what happens as you approach a black hole, that time slows down relative to the observer, to the person actually approaching the black hole, that time is slowing down. But for those outside of it, for the normal observer, time is moving along as normal.

So you can see the different clocks they're showing, like the one at the left shows that, on the left shows that the experiment begins at approximately 12 minutes after 9, and then it shows, say, the one at the very end, it shows that very little time has passed because you've approached the event horizon of a black hole. But that the normal observer, you've got time having moved approximately 20 minutes, and that can be 20 minutes, 20 light hours, 20 light years, whatever.
So this is Einstein's general theory of relativity also came up with a way to distort time.
So far we've seen two ways in which time travel can occur, either by approaching the speed of light or exceeding the speed of light in some way, or by increasing the gravitational field.
So those are two different ways in which time can be distorted that could be used for developing a time travel machine.
So let me move over here to Maria Orsic and time travel as far as what she was doing.
Now Maria Orsic, a very famous psychic that in 1919, began channeling these extraterrestrials from, we've claimed to be from Aldebaran, and she was very influential because based on the accuracy of her information, she impressed a lot of German secret society members. This wasn't just someone saying, well, I'm getting communications from extraterrestrials, and this is what they're saying. Now this was someone who was shown to be a very accurate psychic that's.
So impressed members of the German secret societies, and we're talking about the full society. These were very hardcore German industrialists and secret society members, and they were very impressed by the accuracy of her psychic communications that when she said that she is getting communications from these beings from Aldebaran, they believed her because that was Orsic's reputation.
So very, very accurate and very impressive young lady. And what we've found, what I've found from a number of more recent contact is they actually say that Orsic was not really a human, or she could have been a human in terms of like a starseed, but more than likely she was actually a member of the Galactic Federation of Worlds that at a very young age had arrived on Earth and was raised by her family and had these incredible abilities. And interestingly, Nikola Tesla also was claimed to be associated with extraterrestrials. There are two people that knew Tesla or wrote about him. One was Arthur Matthews. He wrote a book called The Wall of Light. And in that he says that he was contacted by extraterrestrials who told him that Tesla was from Venus, and that Tesla himself believed he was from Venus.

So both in the case of Tesla and Maria Orsic, people that are fundamental in the development of time travel, both of them are linked to extraterrestrial civilizations. And according to two of my sources, that is Jean Charles Moyen and David Rousseau, who I've interviewed, you probably listened to those interviews on my ExopoliticsToday YouTube channel or podcast, you've heard them say that they encountered Maria Orsic on a galactic federation of worlds flagship or actually more correctly that they encountered her on a joint US French spacecraft that was part of the Solar Warden program that was called the Solaris. That Maria Orsic was a teacher on that. So Orsic has these galactic connections.

So it's not surprising when we consider that, that back in 1919 and in the early 1920s, she had played such a powerful role in helping Germans develop these breakthrough technologies using something called the real energy. Because this was a force and energy that provided the universe that she encouraged people to develop an understanding of this because once this was channeled in the right way, you could use very advanced technologies. And.

So this was something that the Germans believed in very strongly, actually wasn't just the Germans. It was occultists around the world. There was a British occultist by the name of Edward Bulwer-Lytton who wrote a book. I think it was 1877 called Vril, The Power of the coming Race. And this was something that was created a storm in the occult world at the time, that there was this force called the Vrill. And if you learn to master it, not only could your psychic abilities become enhanced and you could do incredible things, but you could use this for activating incredibly powerful technologies.

So this was something that occultists believed in generally, but Maria Orsic and the German Vril Society, they took this to another level. So she was in contact with the Aldebaran ETs and that is from the constellation of the Vril. And they gave her instructions, technical information on building an interstellar space time device.

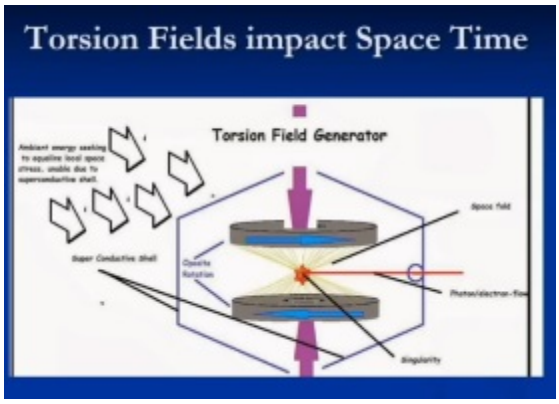
Now this is important to keep in mind that it was never considered to be a spacecraft. It was a time travel device that also functioned as a spacecraft.
So this was a space time device. There was no way that this real craft could travel from the Earth to the Aldebaran star system, which is, I think it's to the top of my head, I think it's 70 light years away, something like that. There was no way it could travel there. Using any kind of conventional propulsion system, it would use an exotic propulsion system and that propulsion system would utilize space time.
So that it could travel there and spend whatever time necessary there and then come back with a very short period of time having elapsed. So it was designed to be an interstellar space time device.



Now exactly how it worked, it used a combination of torsion fields and electro-gravitics or high powered electrostatic charges that somehow this combined with rotating magnetic fields, that all of this combined to produce this kind of breakthrough space time device. Similar to how with Tesla, I mentioned earlier, Tesla's Tesla coil could use electrostatic charges to warp space time and using rotating electromagnetic fields, similar principle with this real spacecraft.
Now the first real prototypes were built by Professor Winifred Schumann and he was a full professor at the Technical University of Munich and he was the director of the Electro-Physical Laboratory from 1924 to 1961 and he was very close to Maria Orsic. He was also a member of the German Secret Society and his specialty was high voltage electrostatics and rotating high energy plasma.

So his skill set or knowledge of what happens when you generate very large electrostatic charges and when you are spinning plasma or when you have rotating magnetic fields, that was his specialty.
So that was in the 1920s that he was specializing in this and he built real prototypes.
Now people often say well you know what evidence is there for those fantastic claims. Well there actually is evidence and.
So there's a document there and what that document shows is that that's what a W.O. Schumann, he's on the list of German scientists taken to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base as part of Operation Paperclip. And Wright-Patterson Air Force Base was where they took the recovered real and Hannibal spacecraft that were taken out of Nazi Germany at the end of the certain world war under Operation Lusty.
So the Americans brought American or the Army Air Force brought all of those flying source of technologies to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base at the time it was actually called Wright Field in 1947 changed the name to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base. So this is where they were studied.
So this is objective documentary evidence that Schumann was actually involved in flying source technologies and his specialty in high voltage electrostatics and torsion fields or high rope or highly pressurized rotating plasma was somehow relevant to the operation of spacecraft. And.
So this is documentary evidence supporting the claim that Schumann had this kind of skill set where he could build the first real prototypes for the full society or for the grilled society with Maria Orsic.
So torsion fields impact space time. A torsion field is when you generate a rotating magnetic field either using kind of rotating magnets or something like a plasma like a mercury blade, a base plasma that's just rotating at a very high speed that's generating a magnetic field and if you rotate these things in opposite directions it generates a very powerful torsion field.
So here's an example of a torsion field generator.

So this is the sort of thing that generates this space time effect that enables craft to travel interstellar distances.
So that we're not just talking about a spacecraft like the Voyager or the Pioneer spacecraft that are now outside of our solar system after having traveled for 30, 40 years we're talking about devices that can bend space time.
So that they can go and come back from these very long interstellar trips.
So in 1933 the Nazis come to power and take over the rule space time program.
Now it's very important to just come and emphasize that from 1919 up until 1933 that Maria Orsic and the full society, the rule society, they were operating under the Weimar Republic which was a democratic very principled society that protected civil liberties and the military played a minor role in that society.
So people often ask well people think well you know if Maria Orsic was working with the Galactic Federation of Worlds why did they begin working with Germany, Nazi Germany and give them all these advanced technologies? I mean how do they be good because they forget people forget that from 1919 up until 1933 Germany was a republic that that was the most progressive and open society in all of Europe including the United States and where the German military by law could not play a prominent role.
So this was actually the ideal place where you could introduce these advanced technologies and I think the idea was that the Weimar Republic would be the vehicle for introducing these advanced technologies to the world and in fact William Tomkins here describes that they were in addition to Orsic they were like you see he describes 1,443 very strange number of people in this period of history in Germany that were working on these kinds of civilian flying source projects.
Incredible to think of now, but now we kind of like understand that this was actually a good time to introduce these technologies.
So why didn't we hear about this why haven't we heard about this because what happened was that the Weimar Republic was sabotaged by the Deep State they brought about its end and that the Deep State actually brought Hitler and the Nazi party to power and this is actually factually can be proven in one of my books on Antarctica's history I describe how the Deep State did it, but they actually encouraged the German Chancellor to hand power over to Hitler because this would be good for the industrialists.

So the industrialists were being helped by none other than the Rockefeller family and the Dulles brothers who were very much part of this Deep State initiative to help bring about an end to the Weimar Republic.
So why didn't they want the Weimar Republic to end because they didn't want this kind of technology coming out.
So this is a very important part of history. So what happens then 1933 Hitler comes to power he takes over the rules space time program everything now becomes classified it's under the control of the Nazi SS and soon after that Hitler reaches agreements with reptilian extraterrestrials and.
So this leads to operational craft being given to the Nazis.
So the Weimar Republic or such the full society, the Vril Society, they're working with members of the Galactic Federation of Worlds to bring about a kind of civilian spacecraft industry and to distribute that to the world that is shut down the Nazis come to power they take everything over and the Nazis then reach agreements with these guys the Reptilians and the Reptilians then start getting start giving to the Nazis some of these spacecraft operational craft that they can reverse engineer and.
So this was something that William Tompkins discussed in his revelations in his three volume series of books Selected by Extraterrestrials he discussed how the US Navy had an intelligence program where they learned about the Nazis being given these spacecraft multiple spacecraft by the Reptilians and William Tompkins said that the Nazis received 34 different types of spacecraft by the Reptilians and that they had 34 prototypes or models that they were developing based on what they'd received from the from the Reptilians.
So that's just an abbreviated history I've all this there's a lot there you can go to my book Antarctica's Hidden History where I talk all about this in depth all the I did a webinar that was I believe a four-hour webinar on Antarctica the Darkly and you can find out more just by going to my Vimeo webpage and go to exopolitics.org and they look under webinars if you want to watch that particular webinar to hear about how the Nazis were able to get this help and move forward in developing a darkly in Antarctica now bringing it back to the idea of time travel how is all this relevant to time travel well remember that limerick that I mentioned.

There was a young lady named Bright,
Whose speed was faster than light.
She went out one day in a relative way
And returned the previous night.

If you are developing spacecraft for a darkly intent on imperial conquest if you had the capability of departing after your arrival from the project that that would be very helpful operationally.
So this is something that another of insiders have talked about that the darkly began to use time travel as a standard operating procedure because they're spacecraft as I said they're not just spacecraft they're space-time devices they can bend space-time and that's not and I can just move that can actually move forward and back in time depending on their mission.
So once the Dark Fleet begins a mission they first make sure that they return from the mission before they before their departure.
So the missions are completed by the return prior to the departure.
So that Captains don't go ahead with the mission if they don't first witness their return.
So Tony Rodriguez he talks about this in his book Ceres Colony Cavalier where he spent I think it was 13 years with the Dark Fleet working on one of their merchant ships.
He says this was standard operating procedure that when going off on a mission first the captain would make sure that once he received the mission instructions of what to do for that mission, he would before departing he would make sure that they arrived first which meant that time travel was used to first arrive before your departure.
Once the captain saw that he had arrived back from the mission then he knew to depart that was okay the mission had been completed successfully that way they would know that if he didn't come back that this was not a mission to depart on.

So this was how time travel was used by the darkly to conduct missions Tony Rodriguez talked about it Corey Goode also talked about it in one of my articles on exopholitics.org secret interstellar spacecraft used superluminal tachyon drive it's very interesting that the secret space program craft that Corey Goode says he served on was named after Somerville because he was the guy that came up with Einstein with the anti-telephone defense.
In other words he was the guy that responsible for the development for the theoretical development of tachyon's enabling parts of them that that tachyon's are these vases and light particles that enable one to travel backwards in time.
So the very fact that the that the.
So I think it's called the Arnold Somerville. Arnold Somerville. So this was one of these craft that could that could use this kind of space time effect and that tachyon's tachyon drives have been around for a long time at least from the time the dark fleet began using them in the 1940s and then later they became used in the solar wooden space program now according to the sources the solar modern program became operational in the late 1970s and early 1980s.
So this is when other tachyon drives began to be used by the US Navy as part of their space program.
So we get an idea now of time travel as it was developed by the Germans for their space programs or for their dark fleet space program based out of Antarctica and how that was operationalized now in terms of the role of the US Navy and the development of our time travel.
It doesn't just begin in 1978 it actually begins quite a bit earlier than that and what I'm going to do is play you a short clip that runs for about three minutes it's uh it involves Al Bielek who is one of the Montauk project witnesses and he discusses how time travel research began in the United States with the US Navy.
So I'm going to play that clip and then we'll come back on the subject of time travel:
Al Bielek: I think a few comments are necessary or at least desirable on my part many people cannot accept the idea of time travel many scientists for that matter cannot say it's impossible, but again we get to that strange schism between part of the expression public science and private science by public science amino which is taught in the universities and is commonly accepted throughout industry and the trade the private science being that which is restricted to only a few to certain government agencies to certain major private corporations have helped build some of the software in secret there is a large gap or it's given there of the study I think an average of 50 years and the reality science and technology is about 50 years ahead of what is reported and taught in the usual school systems and even the best school systems with the idea that as I have found time travel as a reality it actually was first accidentally discovered in 1936 it goes back to a navy expedition involving a brand new USS Kearsarge digging around in the South Atlantic north of the shores of Atlanta of South America perhaps on the fringe of the.

So-called Bermuda Triangle they found a large crystalline structure on the floor of the ocean sent divers down to examine it and actually they knew the Kearsarge disappeared about two months later it came back with a very strange explanation that is how time traveled into the future and those people in the future realized what had happened knew about the Atlantean installations and showed them how to calibrate this system because these crystals were activated by a combination of electronic or actually RF and magnetic energies of a certain combination certain frequencies and.
So forth they were key to turn this thing on and they knew that the Atlantean civilization ages ago when Atlantis was an empire that was traveling all over the world moving heavy hardware everywhere and the use of for transport of large and very heavy cargo from point A to point B almost instantaneously didn't have to expend any fuel on it was a very quick and easy and very inexpensive transportation for very heavy loads it's also usable as the Kearsarge found out for time travel they were told how they could calibrate the system and by the end of two years of research they figured out a system to utilize this system of crystals which apparently in the ocean floor all over the world. So they found out that they could use this system for time travel.
DR. SALLA: So there you have Al Bielek talking about this incident from 1936 involving this US drilling ship called the Kearsarge that it stumbled upon this Atlantean crystal buried somewhere in the vicinity of the Bermuda Triangle and that once it activated the Kearsarge was taken into the future and then when they came back they had information from future humans on how to calibrate crystals or Atlantean crystals for time travel technology.

So this was 1936 and this is kind of like of course independent for what was happening in Nazi Germany at the time that the Kearsarge and the US Navy began experimenting with manipulating crystals using RF frequencies and electronics to be able to produce some kind of time travel effects. So that from 1936 to US Navy was very interested in time travel.
So this takes us to the.
So-called Philadelphia experiment and Nikola Tesla and Albert Einstein were they were recruited to Princeton University's Institute for Advanced Studies in 1933 and they were looking at space time experiments now the Kearsarge incident happened three years later and they clearly recognized that this was something that could be utilized using very large equipment because imagine if you could you could use or you could bend space time and you could transport a whole ship to another point in space time obviously for war fighting that would be tremendously important because you could transport your ships into the past and or in other future or anywhere using space time and that would give you a tremendous tactical advantage over your enemies now of course with the Philadelphia experiment things went south I mean that didn't turn out right the Philadelphia experiment itself has largely been shown to be to have happened that this was something that has been multiple sources that confirm it happened now the extensible reason for the Philadelphia experiment was radar invisibility and the kind of idea that is promoted is that while they were experimenting with radar invisibility using these high voltage electrostatic charges and rotating magnetic fields and accidentally it was a space-time effect well actually no the radar invisibility was always just a cover. It was always a space time experiment using we're trying to transport the ship which they were trying to replicate what happened to the Kearsarge from 1936 they were trying to replicate that in the 1943 experiment the Philadelphia experiment.
So this takes me to something that I just didn't realize until I didn't realize the significance of it until I re-listened to what Bielek had to say about the Kearsarge and what had happened when it went into the future.

So I wrote an article about that where you can listen to it online the actual clip where Bielek talks about it I'm going to play it for you now in case you haven't read that article or listened to the clip where Bielek talks about how time travel was used to win World War II. So let's move forward and I'll play the clip now:
Al Bielek: Stories I ran into and the information I had which partly came out of Los Alamos laboratory's black mall as I did.
So many other things. As they found out how to calibrate it, they were able to use the Kearsarge later on a number of other ships similarly outfitted with the appropriate equipment for time travel into the future. This allegedly according to my information became essential to winning a World War II against Nazi Germany.
We had to pull some hardware out of the future, modify a few things and even if you look at the end of the war wherein we dropped the plutonium bomb as well as a standard uranium gun barrel type bomb on Japan when the Hiroshima was in the uranium gun barrel bomb and the one in Nagasaki by public statement was a plutonium bomb when asked to ask some very serious questions since in the record of the development of the atomic bomb this test at Trinity flats, it was stated in the manuals and they declassified information to be a plutonium bomb and that it took all of the production of plutonium out of Hanford engineering works for over a year to produce enough plutonium A-bomb grade that they could use to test a bomb.
They were.
So concerned about whether it would work enough because they implied previous failures which was true they put a steel a very heavy steel shell around the bomb in case it fails that they wouldn't lose the plutonium they could salvage it.
Of course it did happen that that particular device exploded quite well and left a nice glassy plating on the desert floor and was seen for many, many miles. That took all the plutonium that we had produced up to that time.
How did we within one month get enough plutonium to build a bomb and drop it on Nagasaki? That has never been answered and I think the answer lies in the fact that we had time travel capability and took some of the plutonium production out of the future were and the 80s and 90s and 70s even we were able to produce it in rather large amounts relatively speaking.

The Russians over 40 years in one of their secret cities that built up a stock of 40 tons of bomb grade plutonium they don't know what to do with and they're still producing it. So it's not that difficult to produce once you have the proper facilities.
Other than that one specific instance and I am told there were other instances of time travel being used to produce hardware in the future that is our era let us say the 80s to be used during the period of World War II. The bottom line was we militarily defeated Hitler and the Axis powers and Japan and the world settled back to an uneasy peace.
DR. SALLA: So that's very fascinating information from Bielek. So the official history is all as far as those of us that look at kind of like these alternative sources the Philadelphia experiment was a dismal failure. So there's agreement on that and supposedly the time travel experiments didn't resume until much later, but what Bielek is telling us is that, in fact, they did continue and that during the Second World War they were able to do some of these time travel experiments to get future weapons. That they were able to go to the 1970s the and the 80s and even the 90s to Cold War Europe or to the United States and show up in the United States a ship you know maybe the whatever ship it was that was rigged out to do the time travel experiment or to do the time travel would show up and say “Hey we're from 1944 and we're in a midst of the fight against the Nazis we need some plutonium. We need plutonium.
So that we can build our bombs. Can you give us something and anything else you have?”
And apparently this was something that was used to win the Second World War according to the information that Al Bielek got. So that was new to me. I didn't realize the significance of that because it tells us that the Philadelphia experiment was maybe a cover for other successful time travel experiments using navy ships to go into the future and of course as I mentioned later on by the 1970s and 80s you have the navy ships that were part of the of the Solar Warden programs that could travel through space time, but this is the kind of forerunner to that.

During the Second World War they were using this time travel technology that had been given to them by future humans and that was used to win the Second World War. So what that tells us then is that the Second World War was really a temporal war.
Now previously I've talked about the Second World War being a temporal war involving different groups of extraterrestrials the Reptilians working through the Nazis and the Andromeda Council working with the Ashtar Command and the Galactic Federation of Worlds.
I talked about that in my latest book Galactic Federation's Councils and Secret Space Program. I talk about the temporal wars.
What Al Bielek has brought in is another dimension to that temporal war that I hadn't considered and that is that future humans actually played a big role in this temporal war, that they were giving the United States and the Allies and presumably the Russians were also getting help as well to defeat Nazi Germany from future humans.
So it wasn't just extraterrestrials intervening in this period in human history, but also future humans. That kind of makes sense I mean if we consider that there's this kind of non-interference principle by extraterrestrials. Well you would think that that applies across different timelines as well, but future humans wouldn't be restrained from that. So it makes sense that the United States in the 1970s and 80s and 90s that the US government if they get approached by a ship that's part of that comes from the Second World War area and this ship says “Hey you know we're fighting in the midst of the war. We need this. We need that from you. Help us out.” that they would get that kind of help.
So World War II was a temporal war involving extraterrestrials and future humans. Now how far into the future do the humans come from in intervening in contemporary affairs now Bielek was talking about you he was talking about the 1940s and he was saying that future humans from the 1970s, 80s and 90s came and helped the US to win the Second World War n.
We do have soft disclosure of this temporal war now this is a way you hide the truth in plain sight is the truth is that there's been a temporal war involving not just extraterrestrials, but also future humans and that they have been involved in human affairs throughout our history

So this is two episodes from the Star Trek Enterprise series, a very good series. I think this is of all the Star Trek series this is the one that really explains the temporal war, how that operates. So in this case you have the Germans or the Nazis being helped by extraterrestrials and future humans which is Captain Archer and his team go back in time and they help deal with the with the Nazis and these extraterrestrials from the future in terms of restoring the timeline that the timeline had been disrupted by this by this extraterrestrial intervention
So this is hiding the truth in plain sight. You put into fiction something that has truly been happening that is known in the classified world, but you don't want the public to know about it
So you know that's a secret that's pretty hard to keep forever,.
So you hide in plain sight by having shows like Star Trek talk about it. Now time travel in the Star Trek series in one of my book Space Force Our Star Trek Future I talk about Jean Roddenberry the creator of Star Trek and Leslie Stevens the fourth, he's the creator of the Outer Limits TV series and he was the guy that actually had Jean Roddenberry sit on the second series of the Outer Limits series to take in what was happening. Now the Outer Limits was phenomenally successful its first season it was it generated a huge audience and it was really, really popular and this worried the Deep State
So what they did was they made sure that that that the Outer Limits would not survive
So for the next food second season they rescheduled it from a Monday night where it was succeeding phenomenally doing really well and they scheduled for a Saturday night and it was up against the Jackie Gleason show. Americans love their comedy and they you know Jackie Gleason was.
So popular that this was the death knell for the Outer Limits TV series. They just couldn't compete against Jackie Gleason and Gleason himself has a very interesting history when it comes to the extraterrestrial nexus
So they decided that Outer Limits would not succeed for it would not continue for a second year because the Outer Limits series was revealing a lot of the classified technologies that were being used by the US, but maybe because Leslie Stevens the fourth he was the son of Vice Admiral Leslie Stevens who was part of the creation of Solar Warden.

He was involved in the creation of the US Navy's Secret Space Program he was an aeronautical engineer and he was he played a key role in setting up the Navy's Secret Space Program as I've described in some of my earlier books
So Leslie Stevens the fourth the son of them of the Navy Admiral knows about the Secret Space Program, in fact, she or Jean Roddenberry were taken into the future
So just imagine that imagine Jean Roddenberry or Leslie Stevens imagine them in 1965 being taken into the future maybe 70 years into the future,.
So 65 and.
So they get taken into say the 2030s and they see something that appears to be very similar to Star Trek where our planet is united under some kind of overall federation style government. We are part of a galactic federation of worlds or what are they called the United Federation of Planets and we are a galactic culture
So this is in the 2030s,.
So this time travel technology existed as I mentioned Al Bielek was saying that they were taking people based on the Atlantean crystal that was discovered in 1936 by the Kearsarge and then during the second world they were taking people in the future to kind of learn about future technologies and then coming back to help the Navy win the second world war or help the US win the second world
So by the 1950s 1960s the US is doing this They're taking people into the future and coming back with information for helping develop a future space program, the Solar Warden space program
So Jean Roddenberry and Leslie Stevens are taken into the future they see all this, either one of them, I think it was probably Leslie Stevens the fourth that was taken into the future
He sees what was happening which makes sense because he was the son of a Vice Admiral. He was also part of army intelligence during the second world war and people commented on Leslie Stevens and said he was a spook embedded within Hollywood to do soft disclosure on behalf of the US military. So people in the Hollywood entertainment industry always suspected Stevens played this role and he truly is a fascinating person

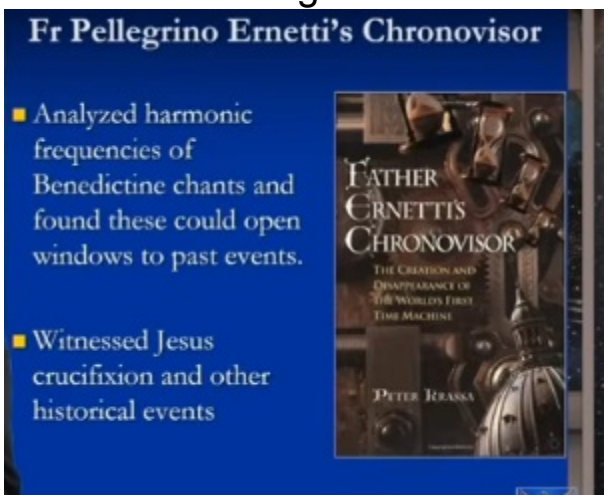
So I think Stevens was taken into the future, saw what was going on. He comes back in 1964-65. He tells Jean Roddenberry “Hey you've got a you've got to come up with a new sci-fi series. I'll show you how to do it “
So Jean Roddenberry sat in the final season of Outer Limits, saw everything, met all the actors. He met Leonard Nimoy. He met William Shatner, the future crew and met a bunch of others that starred in the Star Trek series and that's how Star Trek began because of Leslie Stevens the fourth.
So I think this is an example of time travel being used for soft disclosure and seeding humanity with the ideas of our future.
So it wasn't just that the future was intervening in human affairs to transfer of technologies to help with the war, but it was also seeding our present era with knowledge and information that would help us culturally prepare for what is coming



So now I'm going to shift gears and we're going to move to another aspect of time travel. This is Father Ernetti's Chronovisor technology. There was a book by Peter Krassa that is discussing this.
I believe he was a Dominican priest and he was analyzing harmonic frequencies of Benedictine Chants and found that these could open windows to past events. So he's using RF and electromagnetic frequencies and he's experimenting with the chants of these Benedictine monks and assessing what would happen when you manipulate those frequencies with RF and various electromagnetic frequencies and found that you could open windows to past events.

So he says that using this kind of technology that he was able to witness Jesus's crucifixion and other historical events.
So in the book Father Ernetti's Chronovisor, you can get it on Amazon and Archive.org. It discusses what it was that he was able to do. Now here's a quote extracted from the book “Father Ernetti described the device he called a Chronovisor that looked a bit like a television instead of receiving broadcast from local transmission stations however the Chronovisor could tune into the past to allow the viewer to see and hear events that had occurred years or even centuries ago. Father Ernetti told Bruner that the machine worked by detecting all the sights and sounds that humanity had made that still floated through space.”
So somehow this machine the Chronovisor,, could tune into some kind of a akashic record of past events that were that were somehow recorded in space time and using radio frequencies and kind of vocal frequencies chanting you could activate that and you could look into these past events.
So this is something that flowed through space, but, of course, we know radio signals can flow through space, but if you interfere with the chanting or manipulate those through radio frequencies somehow or some sort of quantum event occurs where distant radio waves or photonic light or past events that's traveling through space that somehow that can be seen on this device this kind of Chronovisor.
So that was kind of work that Father Ernetti was doing. Well is this something that was really going on?
Well there's another source that describes this. This is our George Van Tassel and he was one of the early contactees. He was one of the people that really was very influential in putting out the testimonies of people that say that they had face to face encounters with extraterrestrials.
So he talks about time travel and he talks about how the extraterrestrials were helping him and other inventors understand time travel.
So this is what he said in an interview he gave in 1964. Now with this and other clips are playing now these are some very old clips,.
So apologies for the quality of the sound and the visuals, but I think you appreciate the significance of listening to these historical events because you have people in the 1960s talking about time travel experiments happening in that day and how the Navy came in and classified that research.

So let me play that for you:
George Van Tassel clip: Exactly just over the zone is subject to thought.
Now time doesn't record events the way we do on calendar and clock. You could only record an event by thinking. Now theoretically we believe we can take the video tape magnetic camera into the time zone and photograph Lincoln's Gettysburg address or Caesar's Army's marching or anything that has ever happened. I love you get this thing. In other words you're telling me like H.G. Wells imagined 50 years ago that everything that happened in time is still there to be seen by the recreation electronically all the thought which is it.
Jack you know how you talk into a tape on the tape recorder and play the interruption back identical to the plate if you made the Earth's magnetic field is the same way you can put interrupt and then do it to fight them back out of it. An associate of ours in creating a magnet copper with its principal coupled in the Earth's magnetic field and playback TV shown from the state of the door they're not even in business anymore. You mean an experiment has been done to bring out of the air television programs which have been gone and gone now.
Where was this experiment conducted. It was conducted in Santa Monica by an associate of mine. Why hasn't it hit the headlines throughout the world as that's a time machine in action. Jack the reason it hasn't hit the world is because as I understand that now the Navy Department took him and the research over because he also discovered he could bounce the magnetic echoes off the ionosphere and locate submarines under the ocean regardless of where they were.
DR. SALLA: Okay.
So there you have George Van Tassel confirming that there was these time travel experiments that were being conducted in the early 1960s and that they did involve some kind of device using electromagnetic fields that could tap into some record, some kind of time recording that is traveling or is trapped in the in the atmosphere in some way and that this was something that the Navy was very interested in and actually classified the research.

And as I said if we if we accept what Bill had said you know the Navy didn't want this information getting up because they were already doing it they were already conducting time travel experiments and getting information from the future for not only winning the second World War, but also for developing a future space program.
So George Van Tassel reports these time travel experiments.
So this is something that two decades later you have that similar idea of some kind of screen or device that could you could look into to see the past, that that is project looking glass that the US Navy was running, that that was part of the long-term time travel experiments that were run by the Navy.
So we have the first mention of Project Looking Glass named by Bob Lazar and he came out in 1989 and he was given access to a thick dossier of briefing documents for his assignment to S4. I mean he was there to look at the propulsion system of these flying saucer craft. He saw nine of these craft in the S4 facility at area 51 and his job was to understand the propulsion system, but in order to do his job he needed to kind of have a bit of a background on what was going on. So he looked at this thick dossier which was a briefing document and in a one of the documents talk about a time travel project called Looking Glass also known as the Chronovisor.
So that is Lazar photo on Lazar a mock-up of the ID that he had while working at the S4 facility at area 51. So this is what he said in an interview.
“Wasn't there something about looking glass, Project Looking Glass?”
Lazar: Yeah that was later on when we started getting into the heavy physics of it because gravity distorts space and time Einstein's general theory of relatively discussed all there and what they were trying to do and I say look back in time and some people conjure up images of a time tunnel. They're looking at the distorting of time in microseconds to see whether event they were trying to observe through a gravitational lens.
DR. SALLA: So that was a different project they were dealing with that, but that was essentially playing with gravity distorting time. So as far as Lazar knew that these were experiments that could kind of like manipulate time for micro seconds he didn't he didn't have a need to know that they that the Navy had actually succeeded in manipulating space time where they could transport ships back and forward in time to get all kinds of things. He didn't need to know that, but the briefing document confirmed that there was a Project Looking Glass and that's the important thing here Bob Lazar's Navy W2 this confirms that he actually was employed by something called the Department of Naval Intelligence.

Now people often think well this is a mistake and this this credits Lazar that there's actually an Office of Naval Intelligence, but not a department of naval intelligence that the Department of Naval Intelligence existed during the Second World War, but then it was disbanded, but in fact the truth is that the Department of Naval Intelligence went black. It is not that it ceased to operate. It became. So highly classified that as far as others working in a Navy were concerned and politicians, of course, the Department of Naval Intelligence no longer existed, but it continued to exist and it was the one that was involved in this kind of space time research and developing time machines and of course a future Secret Space Program.
Now the Vatican I mentioned Father Ernetti's Chronovisor that he developed it in the 1950s
The Vatican shared that technology with the CIA in the early 1960s and the CIA counterintelligence and the Vatican Information Service developed chronovisors for assessing both past events and future events.
So why would the Vatican Information Service which was a spy service setup by the Vatican why would that work with the CIA or why would the CIA be interested in working with the Vatican?
Well the Vatican has the world's most extensive espionage program and it's goes back centuries much, much older than the CIA and even older than British military intelligence which dates back to the time of Queen Elizabeth and John Dee that the Vatican's intelligence network goes back further in time than that.
So the Vatican's intelligence service is the oldest on the planet and the CIA counterintelligence chief in the 1960s actually beginning of the 1950s his name was James Jesus Angleton.

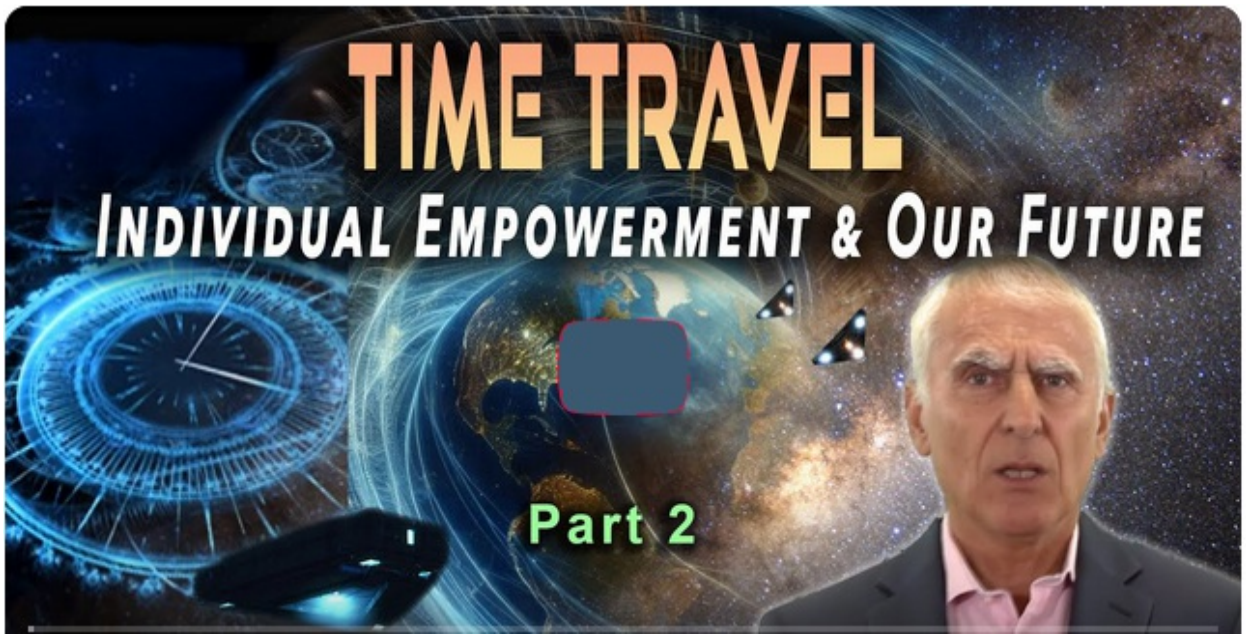
Angleton's he was responsible for the CIA's counterintelligence division he all, but he also handled the Vatican desk and he also handled the Mossad or the Israeli desk why does because the Vatican and the Mossad have worked very closely with the CIA for decades in unraveling and monitoring all these developments as far as space time breakthroughs and exotic technologies and.

So there you have a representation of the way the chronovisor worked according to what Father Ernetti developed and that was handed up to the CIA in the 1960s.

ANNOUNCER: This concludes part one of our deep dive into the science technology evidence and existence of time travel and temporal warfare take the notification bell to be notified of future episodes.

Time Travel and Temporal Warfare a Second Look– Part 2 – Salla

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3YCMfecgWxM May 8, 2025



Time travel technology came into the possession of different governments and organizations in the post-WW II era due to extraterrestrials conducting a 'temporal war' over Earth's future timelines. This all began when the German Vril Society achieved breakthroughs in torsion field physics and antigravity technology in the 1920s, which Nazi Germany took over in the 1930s and soon after, reached agreements with Draco Reptilian extraterrestrials to set up a breakaway German colony in Antarctica to safely develop space-time technologies. The Antarctic-based German colony was later used as a proxy in a temporal war with other interstellar civilizations, which had become alarmed over changes in the Earth's timelines because it made our planet the 'future epicenter' for galactic-wide tyranny to take hold.

Further, as a result of UFO crash retrieval operations in the US and the Soviet Union in the 1940s, scientists began studying how extraterrestrial spacecraft could also be used as space-time travel devices. In the 1950s, Vatican scientists developed the first 'Chronovisor' technology which was instrumental in unlocking timeline secrets. Next, multiple classified projects next launched to test how timelines could be impacted by human intervention. Meanwhile, positive extraterrestrial groups, ancient Inner Earth civilizations, and human civilizations from our future began monitoring and intervening to protect the possible timelines that had significant galactic implications. Thus began a temporal war which continues today. In this webinar recorded on July 2, 2022, Dr. Michael Salla presents extensive witness testimony and documents that cast light on the opaque world of time travel technology and its hybrid uses by different military intelligence entities, and shows why this information is critical for people's understanding of current events taking place today.

Project Montauk and time travel. Okay,
So now we have this program in the early 1970s. You have the Montauk Project, Preston Nichols and Peter Moon in 1992 put out a book called The Montauk Project and that described Project Phoenix or the Montauk Project as it's been more popularly known and that ran from 1971 to 1993.
So the goal was to develop invisibility, mind control, time travel and portal technology with the help of contractors such as IT&T.
DR. SALLA: Okay, well IT&T, why them? Well IT&T is a major US aerospace contractor and its specialty was telecommunications. Now the interesting thing about IT&T was that during the Second World War even though IT&T was an American company it ran Nazi Germany's phone service. Okay, believe it or not, I mean that's actually a fact that Nazi's phone service that was based on IT&T technology.
So IT&T helped the Nazi phone system. So IT&T was very connected with Nazi Germany and with their expansion and in the 1950s when agreements were reached between the US and the fourth Reich based out of Antarctica IT&T was one of the contractors and in fact IT&T was one of the aerospace contractors that ran the Antarctic support program for the US Science Foundation.
So IT&T has been involved in these classified programs for a long, long time, but also was very much involved in time travel technology and there was an incident involving IT&T that is quite relevant here that I'll return to later.
So the Montauk chair, what is that though? This is a chair that basically enhanced psychic abilities to control advanced extraterrestrial technology and this was used for time travel or space travel as well. You could travel through space time using the Montauk chair that somehow it magnified one's thoughts and it focused the consciousness in such a way that it could project a person or open up portals for space time.

So this is the way it was described in The Montauk Project book by Preston Nichols. Duncan would start out sitting in the chair then the transmitter would be turned on his mind would be blank and clear. He would then be directed to concentrate on an opening in time from say 1980, the current time to 1990, 10 years in the future. At this point a hole or time portal would appear right in the center of the Delta T antenna. You could walk through the portal from 1980 to 1990.
So Duncan Cameron is sitting in this chair. He's able to create a hole portal and people could walk through this whole portal into the future. There was an opening that you could look into. It looked like a circular corridor with a light at the other end. The time door would remain as long as Duncan would concentrate on 1990 and 1980.
So the person sitting in the Montauk chair as long as he was able to keep in mind clearly the present date and the projected date that the time portal between those two dates connecting them would remain open, so it operates.
Now the Montauk project, this is something that's been discussed by various sources.
Now there's a recent video that describes some of what happened there and it has a very good collection of insiders revealing what happened at Montauk. The time travel experiments, the portal experiments that happened there, how up to 300,000 children were used in the experiments and time travel was a part of it.
So this is a video you believe you can watch it on Vimeo or on Amazon Prime.
So just type in Montauk Chronicles as well worth it. It goes for about 90 minutes and definitely gives you a good understanding of the Montauk project.
Now one of the participants in the Montauk projects was Stewart Swerdlow and I got to do an interview with him a couple of weeks ago and he was able to talk about his involvement in the time travel experiments that were occurring there at Montauk.
So I want to play to you an extract from our interview where he talks about one of the time travel experiments that he was sent on and what was involved in that.

So here we go. I'm just going to start playing that for you now.
Stewart Swerdlow: In the beginning we had a different technology for the time travel.
So if you can imagine a mirror, it looked like a mirror, you can see it, energy waves through it and they would program the device to a specific point in history, frequency time, and you would literally step through the mirror and when you got to the other side, it felt like you were passing through liquid, like a stick of liquid for a moment, and then when you pass through, you'd be on it where you're supposed to be and they were able to see you because you would be wearing an anchor device that would connect to the Montauk location.
So they had a visual and an audio connection to the person as they sent them. And they went to many different places. There was one group of aliens that actually had the lack of better term of video. It's not really a video, it's all like a crystal that when you put it on the device, it showed you what was going on in historical times.
So they were able to see Roman times and prehistoric times, anything. It was everything on this planet has been recorded, everything. And they have libraries of this information that hopefully one day will be revealed to the public.
DR. SALLA: So there you have our thoughts, word load, talking about how this time travel technology was being used during the Montauk project and that everything could be recorded. And this was a way of gathering a lot of intelligence and they had improved the technology. So that he mentioned some kind of ankle routing device where that would help them better keep track of people that were involved in these time travel experiments.
So this is just giving us another source, another independent source, confirming that these time travel experiments had been around for a long time and they've been refined by the Navy and by the intelligence community.
Now what I found particularly interesting was during our interviews Stewart talked about him being sent on two-time travel missions into the remote past and he was tasked, one of his tasks was to assassinate Jesus. And that mission failed and clearly that what that showed was that one could not manipulate past events to a greater degree that a major historical figure like Jesus that what we know historically doesn't occur.

So this assassination of Jesus didn't happen during his period of lecturing and educating people and doing all his miracles, this is a prior of course to crucifixion.
So when that mission failed he was sent on a second mission to extract blood from the crucified Jesus and that was used to create a clone of Jesus.
So that you could actually in the present time create a fake messiah with all of the memories of Jesus.
So fascinating project, that's something you can listen to, but it does show that there are limitations on how much you can change past events. You can maybe do things like extract blood from the crucified Jesus and that would you could do that because that didn't change historical events to any significant degree, but to actually assassinate Jesus during the three years when he was roaming Palestine and doing his miracles and preaching that couldn't be done because that three years was fundamental and the history wouldn't allow that to be changed.

Now Andrew Basiago, now he's a very interesting researcher or actually witness because he's been a participant in these time travel experiments.
Now he says that he was in 1967 involved in time travel for the first time as a six-year-old. He was a chrono-naut.
So that was a term he started to use that he is a chrono-naut and it makes sense, astronaut traveling through space, chrono-naut traveling through time.
So the technology was developed at the Ralph M Parsons Engineering Company where his father worked on behalf of the forerunner to the Defense and Advanced Research Projects Agency and the CIA and yes that is true that the Ralph M Parsons Engineering Company was a very real company and that it was involved in all kinds of classified research and.
So Andy Basiago's father was involved with the Parsons Company. He did work with that company and that's something that Basiago was able to prove during his interviews and discussions and putting out his evidence for the reality of this project Pegasus and that DARPA, the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency was also involved in this research from the very beginning.

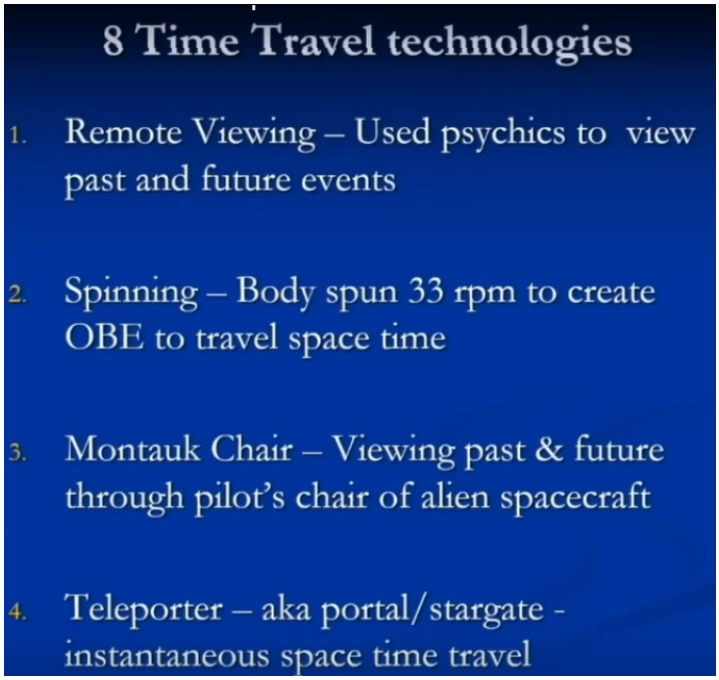
Now back in the 1960s DARPA was the D wasn't there it was just known as ARPA.
Now Andy Basiago describes this project, this time travel project, as Pegasus and they involve many children involved in testing and he was involved from 1969 to 1972 and he also describes many injuries and fatalities in developing time travel technology in the early 1970s.
So that matches what the Montauk Project witnesses have described.
So this is another source, another independent source describing these time travel experiments using children and that many of them died or were severely injured because of these time travel experiments.
Now one of the most kind of controversial issues of Andy Basiago was him claiming that in 1963 on November 19 he was present at Abraham Lincoln's famous Gettysburg Address that he was sent back in time and that he listened also that he was there during Lincoln's address even though he didn't get to watch it just because something happened where he started to fade back out of time into the present.
But he says he found this photo of Lincoln's address with a young child and he said that was him.
So he's used this photo and pointed out this anomaly where you have a what appears to be a child in the in this kind of crowd just before the Gettysburg Address.
So very interesting that Basiago says this.
Now I've known Andy Basiago since 2006 and I just got to do my first interview with him last week. Next week I will put it out.
So you can tell into my first interview with Andy I've been kind of sitting on the fence regarding Andy Basiago's testimony for many years, but what convinced me that he was the real deal. This is an incident that convinced me. I was listening to the Art Bell show in 2015 Art Bell was doing Midnight in the Desert he had left Coast to Coast.
So he was starting up another program midnight in the desert and it was taking off and he got the interview Andy Basiago.
So Andrew Basiago is talking about Project Packer [Pegasus].

So I said it and Art Bell is very famous for his kind of like openness, but also skeptical. I mean he wanted “show me what's the evidence for this” and Andy Basiago came up with an incident that really shocked Art Bell which is very unusual and it convinced me that Andy was the real deal. Andy Basiago says that in 1970 he was taken to an IT&T facility, mentioned IT&T I mentioned it earlier and then Andy Basiago says that it was involved in time travel experiments or in project Pegasus.
So he says he was taken to this facility at Nutley, New Jersey and that IT&T was conducting time travel experiments with Project Pegasus back in 1970.
Now Andy Basiago says that he met Art Bell at that IT&T facility in 1970 that Andy Basiago was part of a group of kids I can't remember it was 25 or 30 kids and that they were there being given a tour of the IT&T facility because they were part of Project Pegasus and Art Bell was associated with Project Pegasus and what was what was really shocking to Art Bell was that Art Bell said “I've never told anyone about that.” Art Bell confirmed that in 1970 he was working for IT&T at the Nutley facility and Art Bell said that he was working at the time for a highly classified communication project for NATO and he couldn't talk about it anymore.
So he did confirm that he was involved in time travel experiments he just confirmed that he was there in 1970 and that they were he was working on a highly classified program for IT&T for on behalf of NATO.
So that for certain convinced me that Andy Basiago is the real deal and since that time I began having conversations with Andy and I've been quietly researching some of his claims and I've been able to confirm some of them.
So I'll be talking about that in my interview.
Now Andy Basiago he came out with an affidavit where he talks about he put this online I don't know when he did this would have been around 2016-17 something like that or actually maybe a little earlier, but around that period where he says that he laid out all of his claims of being part of these time travel experiments and that there were eight time travel technologies that were under development by different US agencies and he describes and if you do a web search Andrew Basiago affidavit it'll come up with this. You can see it as a

PDF. You can find it online. Well worth reading.
[also see Project Pegasus & Time Travel: Interview with Andrew Basiago https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=f8OImQaxQdM]

He describes eight time travel experiments.



So I'll just kind of go through these pretty quickly, but discuss some of them already.
So he describes Remote Viewing this is something that's been known for some time remote viewers have been able to look at past and future events famous incident was involving Joseph McMoneagle being tasked by the CIA in the mid-1990s to look at Mars a million years previously to find out what happened to the Martian civilization. So yes psychics have been trained have been using remote viewing to look into past and future events for different intelligences. So that's not new.
Spinning, this is something I've never heard of and he says that if a body is spun 33 revolutions per minute then you can actually create an out of body experience that travels through space. So if you spin someone around kind of like how they train astronauts how you spin them around 33 revolutions per minute generating G forces, but that creates an OBE I hadn't heard of that, very interesting I guess you know people may be researching this, but wouldn't be hard to confirm that that really happens.

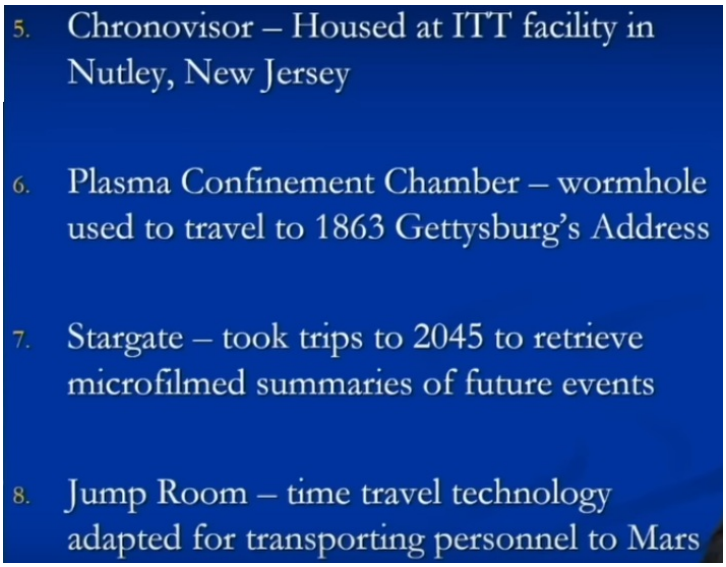
Now the Montauk Chair we've talked about that. Others have talked about it. So yes we know that's a form of time travel.
A Teleporter, a portal for Stargate instantaneous space time travel that is something that can be related to the kind of experiments that the US maybe has been working on since the incident with the Kearsarge in 1936 that they've defined that kind of technology.



Chronovisor, we've talked about that.

Plasma Confinement Chamber. He says that this is what was used for him to travel to 1863 to the Gettysburg address that somehow that uses a wormhole and very interesting.
Now I would have said well that sounds very similar to a Stargate, but his seventh technology he says is a Stargate and he says he took a trip to 2045 to retrieve microfilm summaries of future events.
So I'm not quite sure exactly what the difference is between a plasma confinement chamber and a Stargate both seem to do some kind of wormhole connecting the past the future to the present. So yes that's something worth clarifying later.
A Jump Room. This is kind of like a technology where time travel can be used for transporting personnel back and forth and he says he was involved from 1980 to 1984 if I recall correctly he was involved in this jump room to Mars program for talented and gifted children. By that time he was already he was going to the university.

So fascinating testimony and I think there's a lot to Andy Bashiago and I think if we're looking at time travel really kind of look at some of his claims and a good place to start is his affidavit where which is a very concise explanation of his experiences with time travel technologies. So I'll leave it to you to talk a bit to kind of like explore that further.

Now the Wingmakers this is another fascinating aspect of time travel now according to the Wingmakers material in 1972 some extraterrestrial artifacts were discovered at Chaco Canyon in New Mexico and that these were dated by the intelligence community to the 8th century AD and that apparently a colony or someone having advanced technologies that were thought to be extraterrestrials had published a colony in 8th century AD among the Anastasi Indians and. So this this artifact was dated to that time. [Neruda interview]
So that came to the attention of the intelligence community. So the National Security Agency starts an Ancient Arrow Project in 1973 to try and understand what were these extraterrestrials or future humans or someone with advanced technologies, what were they doing establishing a colony in the 8th century AD among the Anastasi Indians, but it was shelved because the advanced technology at the at the time couldn't be decoded. there was some the ancient artifact that couldn't understand it. what was in it.
So fast forward to 1994. A rock slide happens and it reveals 23 chambers with information on philosophy art and music from the future and a group within the national security agency called the Advanced Contact Intelligence Organization ACIO takes over the ancient arrow project.
So this group is now trying to understand the contents of all of these are chambers and what they were saying and what the agenda was of these future humans that had built this Chaco canyon complex there and put in all this information.
Now the Sumerian language was used for this information and that's very interesting because the Sumerian language that was the language used by extraterrestrials that were communicating with Maria Orsich who through automatic writing. In 1919 through automatic writing she wrote out the communications from these Aldebaran extraterrestrials for building space-time devices and that was all in Sumerian.

She didn't know that at the time and that was why the German secret societies believed her because there was no way she could understand ancient Sumerian and it was translated at the time and it was found to be instructions for developing a space-time device.
Now we fast forward to 1994. Now we're talking what 75 years later you have a chamber built with all of this writing and information about philosophy, art, music and presumably technology from the future and it was all written in Sumerian.
Now apparently the Sumerian language was translated by one of the scientists Dr. Anderson who goes rogue when the Wingmakers convince him to release the information because the Wingmakers tell him look we are future humans we are actually the evolution of the ACIO advanced contact intelligence organization from 1994 or that era in the 1990s that like 700 800 years in the future ACIO is a very different organization.
We are the future ACIO we're contacting you now and we're telling you that your organization is not that he's going to try and muzzle all this. So we want you to go and tell the public about it. So this scientist goes rogue and starts talking about it.
So well is any of this real can we prove any of this well there are witnesses that talk about the ACIO the Advanced Contact Intelligence Organization one of those witnesses is Daniel Salter he was a disclosure project witness from 2001. He worked for I think he was he had at least a 20-year career with the US Air Force that he reached the rank of command sergeant major I think that was an E7.
So very high rank and then after he left ACIO he was recruited by the National Reconnaissance Organization and has documentation proving this.
So this is very credible witness and he says that the ACIO does exist and it's within the NSA now he calls it the Alien Contact Intelligence Organization, but it's the same organizational entity as the advanced contact intelligence organization now being discussed.
So I'm just going to play that for you now

SALTER: Beyond that level there's an organization worldwide called ACIO that's Alien Contact Intelligence Organization. If you pay your dues and follow the rules you can benefit your government is allowed to benefit from that organization's information.
DR. SALLA: Okay.
So that's a very short clip, but it just confirms that ACIO does exist. It's an organization that operates around the world and that if governments want to get information or intelligence concerning these kinds of projects that they have to "pay their dues" as he said in other words they have to collaborate with the with the secret government. You got to keep it all secret. You can't release what's going on to the public and if you do if you follow the rules then you'll get all the benefits and if you don't follow the rules you'll end up like Saddam Hussein in 2003 who didn't follow the rules and wanted to release what was going on and Iraq was invaded and he was deposed. So that's an aside.
So Al Bielek he also had something to say about the Wingmakers and he actually says that he was taken into the future. I think he said that these are future humans from 750 years into the future and.
So he describes what he encountered when he was taken into the future and experienced the Wingmakers. So I'm going to play that clip now:
Bielek: This has been found, that was in New Mexico. There are six more. There are rumors that the sevenths one has been found and, of course, the first one was totally in the control of NSA National Security Agency and underneath the basic organization was another one called ACIO, Advanced Contact Intelligence Organization.
They are the ones who apparently pulled all of the barren and exotic research involving finds which might look like aliens, but for in this case proved not to be.
It was a time travel operation and that is the group which is set aside to do it and is a special group within ACIO there was a Wingmakers group which was working on this project and keeping it very, very secret. They identified the group there was some as having come from the 28th century, originating in the 28th century they called themselves the Wingmakers, which is what I remember and they were interactive with this time period also, that is, the 28th century into the 21st century they did not give me any indication at the time when I was in the 28th century that they were interactive with the 20th century, but I got the distinct impression that I had not seen the last of them from the various things they said.

DR. SALLA: So there you have Al Bielek not only confirming that the Wingmakers existed and that they came from the 28th century and that they were being studied by the Advanced Contact Intelligence Organization ACIO.
He says that he actually was taken there, that he during the Montauk project was taken into the 28th century and that he interacted with that century with beings from that century that they were called the Wingmakers. So it's very significant that this information came out because we have different sources confirming the reality of ACIO and the Wingmakers material.
So what happened was that the Wingmakers material originally was focused on the Wingmakers being humans from the future interacting with present day humans and trying to help us in giving us advanced knowledge, philosophy, music, knowledge and so forth.
And this was something that different organizations wanted to suppress.
So the Wingmakers narrative changed. Now I did an interview with Fred Burks he also are very interested in the Wingmakers material from 1998 I believe it was 99 and he observed that in the year 2001 that key elements of the Wingmakers website was changed.
So it was changed from this very optimistic perspective that future humans were interacting with us they were here to help us evolve as a society as a global civilization and sharing this advanced technology, philosophy, art, music and.
So forth.
Now it was changed. Rather than talking about these future humans called the Wingmakers they're now talking about some central race of extraterrestrials from the central galaxy called the Lyricus order, but they're now changed and that rather than the big threat now was extraterrestrials that were AI in the future and this was something very different.
So the whole Wingmakers narrative changed from focusing on the future understanding the Wingmakers being the future of humanity and we being connected to them and that we can we can change by contemplating this philosophy and this music, to now the Wingmakers site is focusing on this future extraterrestrial threat associated with AI and that the Wingmakers site was all about giving us advanced weapons to deal with this.

So it's a really big shift and I really credit people like Fred Burks for acknowledging that and pointing out how the Wingmaker site has been changed and of course there are those that follow them, the new Wingmaker site, but I don't agree with that particular spin.
Anyway that's maybe something for the Q&A.
So moving on, Dr. David Lewis Anderson here this is a really fascinating guy he is a former US Air Force officer with a PhD in physics and he created a time travel institute on Long Island New York in the late 1990s not sure exactly the year could be 1999, but at some point he creates a time travel institute and he's the real deal he was an Air Force officer with a PhD and he does have those credentials.
Now the interesting thing is Long Island New York is where the Montauk project was conducted and he has been leading this effort to kind of like white world if you like which is to take out of the world of classified black programs time travel research and bring it into the open source literature.
So he's trying to promote understanding and scientific research I'm trying on time travel.
So that's a picture of him then very mysterious figure and that's a that's the logo of his Anderson Institute that was created in the late 1990s. It was disbanded for a while and then I guess reinvigorated more recently…
Now interesting thing about Dr. Louis is that Andy Basiago says that doctor Anderson may be linked to Project Pegasus he wasn't certain of it, but he recalls seeing a doctor Anderson that was part of the Project Pegasus conducting scientific research and as I mentioned Dr. Anderson did have a PhD in physics and was involved in highly classified programs for the air force.
Now Dr. Anderson promotes the original Wingmakers material which was focused which was putting out the idea that the Wingmakers are future humans that are communicating with us in the present day and trying to help us and of course the maverick or the rogue scientist in that was a doctor Anderson very interesting.

So I thought well is there a connection between the two that's an intriguing possibility. Some people say yes others say no, but that's intriguing and, but one thing we know about this Dr. David Anderson is that he attended the Montauk project lectures in the late 1990s and that's where he got to meet Preston Nichols, Al Bielek, Duncan Cameron and the others.
So this guy was very much plugged into that whole Montauk Project scene from the 1990s and created a time travel research institute.
So I think he's an example of a kind of scientist very similar to this rogue Dr. Anderson from the Wingmakers who's exposed to the classified research knows about it and wants to open source it.
And his time travel research association is doing that now the Transylvania sunrise series I've spoken about that in previous webinars that's researching some fascinating discoveries that began with the Bucegi mountains in Romania and Dr. Anderson was actually, this is the same Dr. Anderson that had the time travel institute in long island he establishes a time travel research center in Romania in 1999.
So this is prior to these discoveries and the Bucegi mountains.
So you have to ask yourself he establishes a time research institute in long island where the Montauk project was underway in the late 1990s, then he traveled to and establishes one in Romania in 1999 where four years later you have these incredible discoveries at the Bucegi mountains that involve these halls of records where in each of these halls of records you have time travel technologies. What are the chances of that? Did he have advanced warning?
So again this Dr. Anderson is truly a fascinating character and in the Transylvania sunrise series Peter Moon the editor repeatedly refers to him and the role he played in bringing the Transylvania sunrise series into the western world and getting Peter Moon involved.
So I think he is a scientist that has worked in the classified projects and is now white walled in.
So the Bucegi mountains they're kind of in the center of modern day Romania.
Romania borders with Ukraine, very interesting and just over here is this place called Snake island that Russia just vacated after the Ukrainians bombarded it.

So it's all taking place right there next to Romania very interesting.
So anyway this is the hall of records discovered there under the Bucegi mountains. One of the mountains has on the on the summit a kind of local version of the Sphinx and something that's also called the old woman.
So I've discussed this in a number of articles on my website go there now in this in this hemisphere shaped ark of hall of records there is a chamber, a projection chamber and in the center of that chamber. I've discussed that before in terms of you know you have a chain of three tunnels over here.
These three tunnels lead to different places like Tibet, the Inner Earth and Egypt, but in the center right here this is a time travel device that you can go in that and you can strap something to your head and it projects you into the past or the future.
So this is a hall of records that's been there for many thousands of years preserving all these ancient records and the history of our planet and you can kind of like look into the past and future through this device and around here are these hologram tables and they have the history of ancient Earth.
So this is an incredible discovery. Of course it is one of those discoveries that was made and it has been covered up, but it was discovered in 2003 and it has been covered up in the sense and I'm discussed earlier in the Transylvania series to see how the organization that responded for the cover up are the freemasons.
So this this device in the center magnifies mental energies and in the original Transylvania book series, all Radu Cinamar knew was that it magnifies mental energies. Later on he learned that it actually enabled time travel. So in books three and four he learned that it that would enable the person in it to see the future or past similar to the Montauk.
So in book three of the series I think that's book three The mystery of Egypt it also describes a time travel device. This is a hall of records under Egypt's Sphinx, but underground, of course.
Again you have a large area in this hall of records you have different devices here along the walls there are these cylinders that contain holographic records are going far back into human history.
So human history is recorded now ancients would record human history only if it was something that was invariable. It couldn't be changed. Why would why would you record our ancient history if history could be changed by time travelers?

Now I mean sure you can change certain aspects of history, but the fundamental events of history could not be changed like yes, the us won the civil war, the allies won the second world war, President Kennedy was assassinated in ’63.
These are kind of nodes in history.
So apparently these holographic records can contain nodes of history that any researchers such as myself if you go there you can understand, okay this is something that is invariable.
So this is a history of our planet, amazing, a history of our planet kept secret by these freemasons and the secret societies that are controlling this information.
They're keeping all this secret because if scholars go in there they can understand that this is a history that is invariable. It's a record from the Atlanteans, from the Hyperboreans, the Lemurians.
We can understand it all and sure you can come like history can be changed a little bit around the sides, but the node events which are recorded in these things are something that will help us tremendously in understanding historical events in our present.
So this time travel device, this is how Radu Cinamar describes it:
“It's a device that can project you in time into the future or into the past. This really is time travel, but at the level of the consciousness. It's not a movement in time with the physical body. The body stays here, but the consciousness experiences are time-travel as if you were there with your body. The advantage is that in this case you're an observer from the outside. You can see and feel everything exactly as it happened without being conditioned by the limitations of the body. The advantage is that you can't act, you can't personally integrate with that period of time.”
So that's Radu Cinamar talking about this time travel device that transports consciousness to work to where you want to see things now whose program this this is similar to what Andy Basigo described when he said he was taken to Gettysburg in his book.
He called it the plasma confinement chamber that kind of seems to be a similar technology principle where your consciousness is taken to a place in time. You see it, kind of there physically, but you're not really there physically, it's just your consciousness is projected there and then after a certain period you just kind of fade out back into the present.

So in book seven of the series, The Etheric Crystal this book describes another time travel device this one was discovered in Iraq and apparently they brought back the schematics for how to create the time travel machine. They brought it back to Romania and they were creating a time travel machine in Romania and the Americans were creating a time travel machine in a location like area 51 using what they had learned from this technology. This hall of records in Iraq that that had been discovered in 2003, same time Iraq was invaded. What are of the chances of that.
It's like yes, now we know why Saddam saying it was taken out. He didn't want to share this with the Americans. He didn't want to play ball.
So that requires energetic connection with a communication system created by an etheric crystal and components of a time travel machine called Eden.
So the name of the time travel machine that this joint Romanian American initiative in Romania was working on they called it Eden and it used an etheric crystal, the principle is very similar to what Al Bielek described earlier about the crystal being used with the time travel technology that had been developed as a result of experiments dating from the 1936 Kearsarge incident in the Atlantic Ocean at the Bermuda Triangle.
So there's a crystals appear to be a vital component of building a time travel machine.
So this is very interesting because this particular book describes the different approaches to building a time travel machine from the Rumanians who used kind of like very precise astrological auric frequency fields information to the American time travel technology which was much more based on kind of like western scientific principles and which one was more effective.
So interestingly in this time travel technology that they were building it used Tesla coils. So the Eden time travel device was based on Tesla technology it was a difficult task to build the large special Tesla coils they can be considered the heart of the device and the source of the space time distortion at the income accomplished.

So this pretty much confirms that yes back in 1895 when Nicola Tesla switched on his Tesla coil and it was generating these high voltage electrostatic charges that stuff was going on at that time and a portal was open and he could see the future and the past.
So yes the Tesla coil is a fundamental part of a time travel device, interesting.

Tesla coils and Eden time travel device.
So Radu Cinamar explains it or more the interaction with the frequencies modulated by Eden which gradually became a machine of controlled space time distortion was obvious and powerful. This was mainly due to the modulated energy of the two special Tesla coils. Basically everything was a game of frequencies which had to be combined so that their action was as finely tuned as possible at the biological level.
So here we have an idea of the complexity of a time travel device. You got to get the frequencies right which is why we understand the Vatican scientists Dr. Father Ernetti was.so successful because he was experimenting with Benedictine chants and modulating those chants using electro magnetics and stumbled upon how you could modulate frequencies of sound using electro magnetics or radio frequencies and you would have a breakthrough. So you could see space time. So this is giving us an idea of how it all works fascinating stuff.
So this now takes me to the present day.
So how does all this relate to what's happening today. What's the what's the beef here for us.
So you know rather than just kind of understand the history of time travel and I've got gone a little bit over time I'm probably going to take about another 15 minutes and, but we'll still have 30 minutes of Q&A at the end of that. So hopefully that doesn't bother you.

Time Travel and the Q intel group.
So in around 2017 you have a group calling itself Q that's claims to be linked to the Trump administration and there's a lot of evidence supporting the claims that this this this group was somehow involved with military intelligence and that the Trump administration was the source of a lot of that intel that was coming out.

So there's a lot of data confirming the reality of that.
Now I don't want to get into the Q material. I know it's controversial some of you might think it's disinfo, but I believe it's it was genuine military intelligence that was leaking material that was part of this temporal war that was going on.
Why do I say that? Why do I say it was part of the temporal war? Because time travel was referred to by this Q military intelligence group. There's this intel or this drop this Q drop which says, that refers to Project Looking Glass as I mentioned Bob Lazar was the first to talk about Project Looking Glass back in 1989 and it says “Going forward in order to look back.”
So that was a hint that this Q military intelligence group was using time travel technology and was able to see the future to anticipate events and that this was confirming that both sides in this and I have an article on my website Project Looking Glass. So you can go there and I cite the different sources talking about Project Looking Glass.
So this is suggesting that both sides use time travel technology to outmaneuver the other. In other words, we're in a temporal war that the White Hats and the Black Hats the Earth Alliance and the Deep State with its extraterrestrial allies we're all using time travel technologies to outmaneuver the other and.
So what's interesting here it is that only a few days ago after an 18-month hiatus from December 8 2020 to June 24.
So just a few days ago a week ago Q returned to the public and it started to post again the significance of that? What is the significance of that? Well a lot of Q supporters are talking ir up. They're thinking well Q's back and this kind of like awakening is going to proceed. He's going to move into a high gear and I think it does suggest that the final phase in the temporal war is underway we're approaching the end of the temporal war. So this raises a really interesting question can time travel only happen by advanced technology?
So I’m giving you a review based on time travel technologies that have been developed all the way back from 1895 with Nikola Tesla up until more recently and that there have been multiple different technologies that have been developed for this I mentioned the eight time travel technologies that Andy Basiago detailed in his affidavit that these are distinct technologies and some of those technologies done.

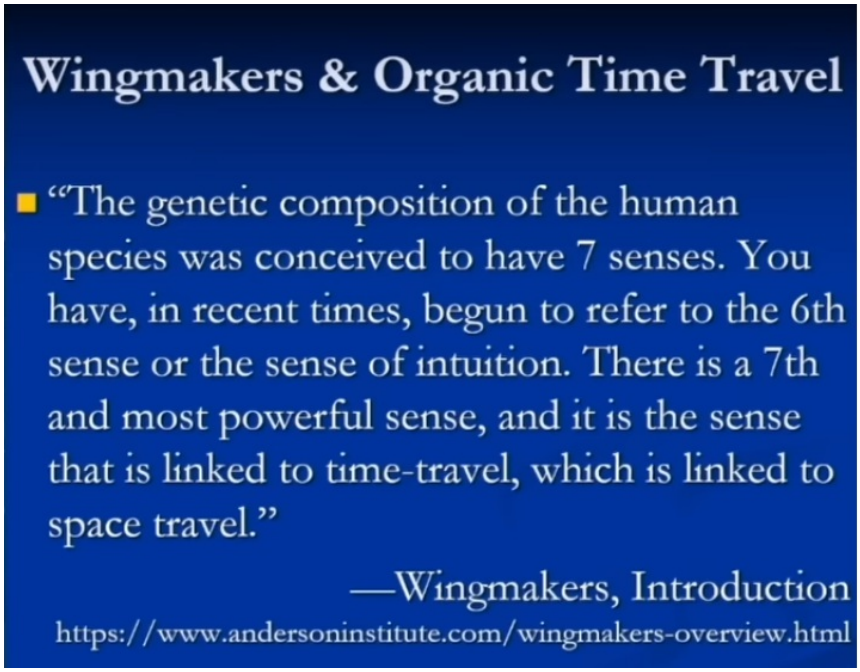
So much use technology per se, but the use consciousness, but the question is can time travel only happen by advanced technology. So this is where we get into the Wingmakers materials, because the Wingmakers talk about “Human DNA and organic time travel” Was this why the Wingmakers material was suppressed why the early website and the material that was put out from there was quickly changed by somebody associated with the probably associated with the Deep State?
So this is the Wingmakers. Are they future humans that can use time travel technology which is organic rather than technological?
So the Wingmakers and organic time travel, in the original Wingmakers material what they said was:



“The genetic composition of the human species was conceived to have seven senses you have in recent times begun to refer to the sixth sense or the sense of intuition there is a seventh and most powerful sense and it is the sense that is linked to time travel which is linked to space travel.”
Whoa just think about that you mean I have within me a sense a seventh sense that can tap into space time that can actually manipulate time travel that just like intuition if you develop your intuition you can become very powerful you develop your sixth sense and that's your intuition that if you start to contemplate time travel if you start to think about it if you start to believe that you have disability that this seventh sense your time travel ability comes online whoa think about that very powerful now you can understand why it was that the Wingmakers material coming out in 1980 1998 and talking about this was a threat the Deep State didn't want you to know about this let's replace this let's replace this information and let's do it in a subtle way so that rather than talking about future humans and this seventh sense that we have within us to time travel we're going to be talking about not future humans coming here to help us, but we're going to talk I think it was they called it the Lyricus order this this order of extraterrestrials from the central race deriving from some central galaxy that I hear that help us prepare to defend the Earth from this hostile extraterrestrial civilization that is used on that is predicated on AI and that they're going to come here and it's a threat and so that they hear to help us get advanced technology to combat the threat. So they shift the Wingmakers narrative from like individual self-empowerment to empower your sixth and seventh senses of intuition and time travel to now being like are we going to help you with advanced technology.

So you can fight these this hostile extraterrestrial AI threat very clever and a lot of people have fallen for that.

So the human body is a space-time portal Nassim Haramein. He has shown that the human body is holographically linked with the entire physical universe via micro-black holes and worm holes and that in fact our biological bodies are natural space-time poles we can use to travel the universe.

So the multiverse.

So this is Nassim Haramein's groundbreaking information he talks about every atom protons in that protons in fact are these black holes and that he's done the precise measurements and that using his theory he's able to explain how a black hole how an atom actually has a black hole at the center of it and that explains the strong force that the strong force is not some mysterious force it's actually a the force of gravity being generated by a black hole in the center of a proton and our body of course are made up by atoms and that means that each of these protons is linked in a is quantumly linked through a worm hole.

So he's saying that essentially our physical body is like a network of black holes and we know that black holes are capable of generating these worm holes.
So Nassim Haramein, he lays out the physics behind how the human body can be a space-time machine that our physical body is a space-time machine.
So this perfectly matches with what the Wingmakers were telling us and this is what the Deep State doesn't want you to know about our physical body being space-time machines comes from Drunvalo Melchizadek in his book The Ancient Secret of the Flower of Life where he talks about the Merkaba, about kind of like a space-time body that can be generated by our consciousness.
If you focus your consciousness on a Merkaba vehicle then you can generate a space-time device.
And I know people like Elena Danaan have talked about spinning a star tetrahedron if you get yourself a quartz crystal a star tetrahedron and you spin that it generates an effect and that effect can be detected by psychics it actually impacts our auric field you know profound way.
So that shows that a star tetrahedron if you spin it around it generates an effect a powerful psychic affects to alter the frequency field.
So if you can generate a star tetrahedron around you using your consciousness then and you spin it you generate the change in the space-time around your body and if you become proficient at this you can do exactly what Drunvalo has said. This is very empowering information, very important for us because everyone that is listened here to this so far, you know you have so far listened to the technology side of it.
Now you're being exposed to the consciousness side of it. You all are capable of doing this now Elena shared with me and I thank her for sharing information from one of the representatives of this Seeder race of extraterrestrials called Oona and she talks about organic time travel.
So Oona is a representative of the intergalactic confederation or the Seeders or the guardian that Elena has physically met with and this is what Oona had to say about time travel. She didn't talk about technology. She talked about us being time travel machines. Oona said, “if you want to remember you need to travel through time you will not have far to go. The door is within you close your outer eyes. Open your inner vision. There inside hides the pathway to the eternal memory. You are the vehicle. You are the time machine. Whatever you have lived you can remember. You can project and be there again in the avatar you once occupied in the place where you once lived. You only need to remember and wake up there again as an observer.”

So that's Oona's communication with that Elena and it confirms exactly what the Wingmakers material was telling us, that within us we have a seventh sense. It is time travel. It is within us. If we activate it, we can activate these space time machines that are organic.
Just as Drunvalo Melchizadek has said you just have to develop the ability you need to do the consciousness. You need to do the exercise. Take the tools. Get crystals. Spin them around. Resonate with the crystals. There's a way of doing this and I’ll be talking more and more about this and this is an exciting development that we'll be discussing in the future.

Awakening the human potential

People involved in psychic research such as Ingo Swann are aware of this, that the future is not one that is dependent on technology. That is what the Deep State or that is what the White Hats I mean are the White Hats I think they fight the good fight, but they are into technology. They are technophiles you can't win a war within without good technology. These are guys that look to the future in terms of yes give us advanced technology to win the war and I applaud them for that because that's what according to what we know from Al Bielek won us the second world war and that is very important.
But there's a more powerful type of time travel that is connected to our ability as conscious entities to organically connect with this ability within us. Robert Monroe for those wanting to develop these abilities are these senses, I mean he's written three books, Journeys Out of the Body, Far Journeys, and Ultimate Journey and this again is very relevant to this seventh sense. If you want to develop your seventh sense, do some of the Monroe courses.

So I've registered for one I'm going to start doing them myself because those that have developed these psychic abilities you become very proficient.
So this is where we need to go we need to develop our psychic abilities we need to develop our ability to use consciousness to go to do incredible things and the Monroe institute is a great place to start. I don't get a commission for saying that I'm just telling you that's our public service.
So, but hopefully I can get a commission in the future I'll talk to them
So the White Hat disclosure initiative I think that this book this Transylvanian series of books you can find at skybooksusa.com is really invaluable.
It is I think I mean just incredible disclosures I would cite this series of seven books has something essential for anyone wanting to truly understand what's going on. It lays it all out, okay.
So the return of the Seeders where are we right now as a planet, should we be optimistic, should we be pessimistic? Where should we be? I think the Seeders have returned. I mentioned Oona, multiple sources confirm that the Seeders the guardians arrived en masse in 2021 doesn't mean that they didn't some of them didn't arrive earlier to lay the groundwork before that because people have talked about them arriving earlier, but in terms of arriving en masse with fleets of large space carriers and space arks and all of that, that's more recent. The negative ET teenage party and the parents arrive what do you do. Let's get out of here. So that's what happened the Draconians and the Orions they got out. The adults are back.
So the Seeders and the adults are back and so what's left is the former minions of the Dracos and the Orions that didn't get the message. They know they'd be given opportunities to let go they like they're going "No we're going to hold on and we're going to trash this place we're going to trash this house, but that's not going to happen. So the former minions are now facing inevitable defeat.
This temporal war is coming to an end. So our future full disclosure of the extraterrestrial life and our reckoning of the different ET groups and what they did and historical intervention in human affairs, I think this is part of we are going to learn the history the true history of the humanity all of these things that have been preserved in the halls of records and the space ark all of that is going to come out, the true history, the invariable history and what has been happening.

We're going to learn that, a century of suppressed technologies going all the way back to Nicola Tesla free energy. I mean he came out with free energy. Tesla had a patent for radiant energy, free energy in 1901. For over 120 years this technology has been available. It's been suppressed by the major corporations on the planet.
So this is holographic free energy electromagnetic healing exotic patents nearly 6,000 patents have been withheld due to secrecy orders.
This is what the U.S. patents and trademarks office did go there. If you consult their records they confirm that almost 6,000 patents are being suppressed due to secrecy orders matter of fact.
So our future time travel technology will be released and it will be regulated like any other advanced technology such as portals and gravity space crafts and so forth and individuals will again become proficient.
So you're going to have the technology of time travel, but you're going to have individuals that are learned to organically try and travel using their seventh sense.
That's going to be fantastic and I'm sure all of you here that are listening to this you're going to be at the cutting edge of that way. We are the future wave of time travelers that are going to get all of the information and we're going to educate people for how to do this because this is a seventh sense and the more we develop it as a planetary culture the more powerful and empowered we become.
People like Alex Collier talk about the Patel that the these are the founders these are the ones that set up the ancient technologies that all the extraterrestrial civilizations revere and look to and he sees us as being the Patel because we have the DNA of 22 different extraterrestrial civilizations and I think because we have that DNA we are proficient.
We are the ones that are going to develop a seventh sense far more than anyone else because the Andromedans, the Pleiadians,, the Arcturians, the Telosetians, the Draconians, these guys, they rely on technology for time travel and space travel.
But we, because we are, Alex says, that we are kind of like genetic royalty. We are the ones that the extraterrestrials are going to look to because we are the ones that are going to become the future masters of the galaxy because we are we are going to be the ones that can organically time travel.

So we are the ones that the extraterrestrials are going to look to.
So we rather than being disregarded and looked as genetic scum because of everything that's been happening in the galaxy through the Dark Fleet, in the future extraterrestrials are going to look at the humans and say wow, these guys are they're the masters of the universe because we have the ability to use space time in 3D.
Other beings, extraterrestrials, can use it in 4D and 5D, but we can use it in 3D, wow! No one else can do that. We can do it. We have the ability for space time travel in 3D. No one else can do that. Well that's what makes us genetic royalty.
So I guess that brings the webinar to a conclusion. I want to thank my team. I want to thank Jasmine for looking after the questions and the chat and helping us technically with this webinar and especially my wife Angelica for doing all of the video switching, handling the Q&A and of course her wonderful video that she put out, the promo for this webinar. I want to thank her for that because that really did create a wave there that help people become interested in this time travel event and I want to thank you for taking the time for making the effort to learn about this.
It's not a topic that a lot of people might find that interesting given what is happening right now, but you chose to spend a few hours to find out more about it and I think you probably have learned enough to appreciate not only the significance of time travel research and technologies that have been secretly developed and used for well over a century, but maybe now you leave this with a new appreciation for your innate abilities that wow, you might have within you a seventh sense that is unique to us as a species, that no other species in the galaxy has.
This this makes us unique and this is something worth exploring and if you have the interest develop that because I think it's well worth it because I think in the end of the day each of us can play an important while in having this kind of information come out to the general public.
So thank you for coming, listening and paying attention.
